Tempo Doeloe Javanese Village Furniture and Traditional Art

There's so much to appreciate about the first comprehensive book ever made about Javanese village furniture, which plays an important part in Indonesia's cultural heritage. Javanese Antique Furniture and Folk Art written by Bruce W. Carpenter showcases a wide array of exquisite examples of the craftsmen's extraordinary talents as well as the rich history behind it. Displaying beautiful furniture pieces from David B. Smith and James Tirtoprodjo collections, this book takes you inside the art and furnishings of Central and East Java villages and palaces that are still little known to the art historians, museum curators and collectors of the world.

Flipping through the pages, you will be fascinated by the two distinct styles; the refined symmetrical Central Javanese pieces and the more coarse, less homogenous East Java furniture that is widely known as "primitive Java". Nonetheless, these quirky, enigmatic, and uniquely beautiful pieces -as described by the writer in the first sentence of the book, depict a completely original Javanese art form that is highly remarkable in terms of colours, design motifs and carving.

This book is a definite must buy and offers so much more than simply being another accessory on your coffee table. Moreover, this heartfelt project has contributed immensely in honoring the greatness of Javanese antique furniture and folk art. The book is now available in leading bookstores in Jakarta, such as Kinokuniya.
